Greeks and Greeks Abroad Reflect on Oxi Day 28 October 1940

The 60th anniversary of the Greek response to the Axis powers’ “Oxi” Day, 28 October 1940, served as a major reminder of the role of the Greek American community in America. It was host to the GreekAmerican grassroots organization AHEPA in Greece about 2008 Convention be held in Denver, Colorado next July, which is returning to Greece for the 2008 convention, which will be held in Athens, Greece in 2009.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visitied the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a "turning point" not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.

ATHENS – A delegation from AHEPA (American Hellenic Educational Philanthropic Organization), the largest U.S. Greek-American organization, visited the Hellenic Parliament Speaker Anna Manolopoulou, Prime Minister Costas Karamanlis, Foreign Minister Costas Karamanlis, and Building the facility to house the Hellenic Nobel Museum, which was returned by his family. It was a “turning point” not only for Greece and the Greek people, but also for all of the Balkan states’ people, who share the same historic fate. The Macedonian Museum of Natural History in Skopje is one of the few museums in the world that has a receiving exhibition on the Macedonian lynx.
Mr. Contogouris relied on testimony from federal prosecutors in 2002.

In 2018, Mr. Contogouris was released from federal prison, having served one-third of a 20-year sentence for wire fraud, conspiracy to commit wire fraud, and several other financial crimes. He became a local political figure, running for and winning a seat on the New York City Council.

More recently, Mr. Contogouris has been involved in several community events, including a Greek cultural festival and a charity fundraiser for Hellenicare, a non-profit organization dedicated to helping Greek Americans and their families.

He has also been a vocal advocate for Greek American culture and heritage, often speaking at events and festivals to promote understanding and appreciation of Greek history and traditions.

Mr. Contogouris is married with three children and resides in the New York City area. He continues to be active in local community affairs and remains committed to promoting Greek American culture and heritage.
he spoke about the incident over heed Martin. He began to tear up as time to react," he said.

were injured, including four hospital. Six others in the caravan was in the car hit head-on. He died avoid the crash, but others on collision, the chain reaction of coming car crossed into their lane. Price's friend, Peter Gretes, 13,

"My whole life, at least once or twice a month, it just comes," Price, former governor of Maryland, said.

things," Price said.

"It's not so much about political power but he's already working on the different issues. He's been talking about different issues like the Monticello in- or Massachusetts. Michael Dukakis said that Price's life experiences worked in his favor, and that the country has become more open-minded in the last few decades.

People were asking me, "Do you think it's a chance for the next generation to take over?" but I don't think so. It's not for them. It's for the next generation. We need to encourage young people to get involved.

"Mrs. Gretes didn't have any memory raced back 43 years to an November 5 wreck.

"I think the parents became frightened of the weekend trips," Kehayas said. "It took the enthusiasm out of the troop." She said. "It changed everything," he said.

"No, when in Greece, don't miss an issue of The National Herald. Sold at newsstands wherever.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.

When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "I don't know. I he didn't see why not.

"George W. Bush's presidency is over, for all practical purposes... I think we've been showing ourselves to be a little bit... wouldn't you call yourself the next one?

With respect to the races in American Congress, Dukakis said, "Senator Chiffor J. Ennis, a Democrat, defeated Ms. John, who was in line to be the first female governor of Maryland.

The morning after the election, Mr. Dukakis said to the Turks into the club. Turkey needs to make serious reforms to meet European standards, but even if the country manages to satisfy some or most of the E.U.'s criteria, many Europeans are dead-set against admitting Turkey.

"There are a number of things that they think are important for political, economic and social reasons. There are some voices in Europe that are against Turkey.

"When asked if he would accept a Democratic nomination in 1988, Michael Dukakis said, "Well, damn, I don't know." But he was interested in a Democratic ticket.

"I am here for then Congressional candidate John Sarbanes of Maryland.

"It's not so much about politics or geography, but we're finally waking up to the fact that we are all Americans, and we share the same common concerns, regardless of where we reside.
By Demetrios Tsakas
Special to The National Herald

NEW YORK — “I accept this award on behalf of my father, Angelo Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, and all the fathers with six brave sons who were poets, artists and great men who made the world a brighter place,” concluded the honoree's daughter, Tsitoura Tsakopoulos, whose children Mr. Tsakopoulos baptized, praised the honoree's entrepreneurial vision, his love for Greek American causes and his efforts to advance and defend freedom of expression, stressing the importance of the community in the media's role in advancing Greek culture,

He is also an archon of the Ecumenical Patriarchate.

On behalf of my father, Angelo Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, one of the most well-known philanthropists, I'd like to thank all of you for your attention and your support for the Greek community’s efforts to keep the Greek American community vibrant and active. The Greek American community is a great asset to our nation and we are proud to be a part of it. Thank you for your attention and your support.

Hellenic Public Radio Presents Kyriakos Tsakopoulos with Phidippides Award

The Hellenic American Neighborhood Action Committee honored Paulette Poulos, director of development for Leadership 100, for her philanthropic commitment and contributions to community during HANAC’s 34th annual Gala at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Manhattan this past October 27. More than 300 people attended the event, raising funds for Leadership 100, the more than 300 people attending the event.

The Hellenic American Chamber of Commerce honored C. Dean Metropoulos, Chairman & CEO of C. Dean Metropoulos & Company, as its 2006 Man of the Year during HACC’s 58th Annual Dinner-Dance at the Metropolitan Club in Manhattan this past October 20. Mr. Metropoulos is shown above with international singing sensation Nana Mouskouri.

The Order of Saint Andrew – Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate honored industrialist and philanthropist Nicholas J. Bouras, a dedicated churchman and heroic veteran of World War II, with the 2006 Athenagoras Human Rights Award during the Archons annual banquet at the New York Hilton this past October 21. Mr. Bouras is executive vice commander of the Archons National Council. (L-R) George Bebrazas, Senator Paul Sforza of Maryland, His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios of America, Mr. Bouras and Archons National Commander Dr. Anthony J. Lambropoulos.

Hellenic Public Radio Chairman Alexander Xenopoulos, left, greets Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, son of California real estate magnate and philanthropist Angelo Tsakopoulos, during HPR's Phidippides Award Gala award ceremony at the New York Hilton last Sunday, November 12.

By Demetrios Tsakas, Special to The National Herald

NEW YORK — “I accept this award on behalf of my father, Angelo Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, and all the fathers with six brave sons who were poets, artists and great men who made the world a brighter place,” concluded the honoree’s daughter, Tsitoura Tsakopoulos, whose children Mr. Tsakopoulos baptized, praised the honoree’s entrepreneurial vision, his love for Greek American causes and his efforts to advance and defend freedom of expression, stressing the importance of the community in the media’s role in advancing Greek culture,

He is also an archon of the Ecumenical Patriarchate.

On behalf of my father, Angelo Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, one of the most well-known philanthropists, I’d like to thank all of you for your attention and your support for the Greek community’s efforts to keep the Greek American community vibrant and active. The Greek American community is a great asset to our nation and we are proud to be a part of it. Thank you for your attention and your support.

Hellenic Public Radio Presents Kyriakos Tsakopoulos with Phidippides Award

The Hellenic American Neighborhood Action Committee honored Paulette Poulos, director of development for Leadership 100, for her philanthropic commitment and contributions to community during HANAC’s 34th annual Gala at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Manhattan this past October 27. More than 300 people attended the event, raising funds for Leadership 100, the more than 300 people attending the event.

The Hellenic American Chamber of Commerce honored C. Dean Metropoulos, Chairman & CEO of C. Dean Metropoulos & Company, as its 2006 Man of the Year during HACC’s 58th Annual Dinner-Dance at the Metropolitan Club in Manhattan this past October 20. Mr. Metropoulos is shown above with international singing sensation Nana Mouskouri.

The Order of Saint Andrew – Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate honored industrialist and philanthropist Nicholas J. Bouras, a dedicated churchman and heroic veteran of World War II, with the 2006 Athenagoras Human Rights Award during the Archons annual banquet at the New York Hilton this past October 21. Mr. Bouras is executive vice commander of the Archons National Council. (L-R) George Bebrazas, Senator Paul Sforza of Maryland, His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios of America, Mr. Bouras and Archons National Commander Dr. Anthony J. Lambropoulos.

Hellenic Public Radio Chairman Alexander Xenopoulos, left, greets Kyriakos Tsakopoulos, son of California real estate magnate and philanthropist Angelo Tsakopoulos, during HPR’s Phidippides Award Gala award ceremony at the New York Hilton last Sunday, November 12.
OXI Day Had Big Impact on Greek Americans

By Mike Dunham

Eighty-four years ago today (Nov. 8), a crowd of 20,000 people who would become affiliated with Spiro Anagnostopoulos, the son of an American father and a Greek mother, gathered on the steps of the National Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of the United States, in Washington, D.C. They were there to support Greece in its fight against the Axis.

Their protagonist was the young Anagnostopoulos, who had been present for the Oxi Day ceremony on Oct. 28, 1940, in Athens.

The vote on July 17, 1973, was never close. Supporters gave him the gift of a national hero, because, in many respects, he was.

“Sporio was a national hero,” said Von Gruenewaldt.

The Anchorage Daily News published the article on November 06, 1997. Th...
Athens: the New Hotspot of Europe

By Justine Vergeld

Athens was named after Athens, the Greek goddess of wisdom. While according to mythology, the city is a jar given following a deal against Poseidon. Today, it’s the curious visitor who finds Athens for their city break.

By Justine Vergeld

In part, this is due to the huge investment which has gone into the city over the past years. The Athens Metro system has been constructed, a new tram system has been installed, fountains have been installed, and asphalt roads have been repaved and sidewalks along the street.

For tourists, the greatest advantage is that you can reach most attractions in the city on foot. Walking is also the best way to see the entire city and explore all of its attractions. For many visitors, it is a more personal and less industrialized way to experience the city. Plus, there are more museums than you could count, a not-for-profit media, educational organization

TRAVEL & TOURISM

The Greek capital has lost its luster, and refined its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

For years, traffic and pollution put visitors off. But the Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.

The Olympic Games prompted a cleanup and facelift for the city, which has made it a much more attractive prospect. The smog is now cleaner, and calmed its hectic roads, and is poised to take the quick city-break market by storm.
Greek Orthodox Nuns in Central Washington Live for God

By Adriana Autieri

SISTERS SAY: Wash., on a quiet street in the small town of Heaven Hills in Klickitat County, are nine Greek Orthodox nuns, including four novices. Most are in their middle years, though one is in her 20s.

The monastery, which sits on 60 acres of land, is nestled among the pines of Heaven Hills, just off the north side of the Home Route 82, in eastern Washington.

Nearly 60 miles from Yakima and thundering locomotives, it is surrounded by the middle of nowhere.

Here, the nuns make a living, doing laundry, making and serving food, and giving}
DEATHS

BOUDAKIS, ANTONIOS A., passed away in a hospital on September 25, 2006. A native of Crete, Greece, Mr. Bokides lived in the United States for the past six years. He was 71 years old. A memorial service was held on September 27 at the Reformed Church of Chelsea, 1330 Broadway, New York, NY. Interment at Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn, NY. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in his memory to the Alzheimer's Association, 7277 International Drive, Suite 250, Orlando, FL 32819.

BRUBAKER, ANGELO V., 83, of Stoughton, Massachusetts, died on Monday, September 25, 2006. A native of Chios, Greece, Mr. Brubaker lived in Massachusetts for the past 30 years. He was 83 years old. Services were held on September 27 at St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, 507 Faculty Drive, West Hartford, CT 06117.

FRANGOLIS, CHACONIS, Louise, 80, of East Crown Point, Vermont, passed away on Thursday, September 28, 2006. A native of Chios, Greece, Mrs. Chaconis lived in Vermont for the past 30 years. She was 80 years old. A memorial service was held on October 6 at the Funny Bone Greek Orthodox Church, 10 North Main Street, Somerville, MA 02145.

HERAKLEITOS, ANTONIOS C., 74, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Thursday, September 28, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Herakleitos lived in Methuen for the past 30 years. He was 74 years old. Services were held on October 6 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Greek Orthodox Church, 142 Beech Street, Methuen, MA 01844.

MOUTAFIS, PANTHESI, 67, of Falls Church, Virginia, passed away on Thursday, September 28, 2006. A native of Rhodes, Greece, Mrs. Moutafis lived in Falls Church for the past 10 years. She was 67 years old. Services were held on October 1 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Greek Orthodox Church, 142 Beech Street, Methuen, MA 01844.

NAGY, JOHN A., 69, of Millis, Massachusetts, passed away on Thursday, September 28, 2006. A native of Giannitsa, Greece, Mr. Nagy lived in Millis for the past 40 years. He was 69 years old. Services were held on October 9 at St. George's Greek Orthodox Church, 507 Faculty Drive, West Hartford, CT 06117.

NOLASCO, SERGIO, 80, of Foxboro, Massachusetts, passed away on Thursday, September 28, 2006. A native of Chios, Greece, Mr. Nolasco lived in Foxboro for the past 20 years. He was 80 years old. Services were held on October 7 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Apostles, 474 Central Avenue, New Bedford, MA 02740.

PIEROS, Giannis, 44, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Friday, September 29, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Pieros lived in Methuen for the past 13 years. He was 44 years old. Services were held on October 5 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Apostles, 474 Central Avenue, New Bedford, MA 02740.

RIVAS, ANTONIO, 73, of Framingham, Massachusetts, passed away on Friday, September 29, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Rivas lived in Framingham for the past 25 years. He was 73 years old. Services were held on October 6 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Apostles, 474 Central Avenue, New Bedford, MA 02740.

STAVROPOULOS, GEORGOS, 80, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Saturday, September 30, 2006. A native of Chios, Greece, Mr. Stavropoulos lived in Methuen for the past 30 years. He was 80 years old. Services were held on October 7 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Greek Orthodox Church, 142 Beech Street, Methuen, MA 01844.

STAVROPOULOS, PANAGIOTIS, 72, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Saturday, September 30, 2006. A native of Chios, Greece, Mr. Stavropoulos lived in Methuen for the past 30 years. He was 72 years old. Services were held on October 7 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Greek Orthodox Church, 142 Beech Street, Methuen, MA 01844.

VASSILIDIS, ANGELO, 81, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Saturday, September 30, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Vassilidis lived in Methuen for the past 20 years. He was 81 years old. Services were held on October 7 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Apostles, 474 Central Avenue, New Bedford, MA 02740.

VASSILIDIS, THEOKLITOS, 72, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Saturday, September 30, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Vassilidis lived in Methuen for the past 20 years. He was 72 years old. Services were held on October 7 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Holy Apostles, 474 Central Avenue, New Bedford, MA 02740.

VONTRUM, Konstantin, 80, of Methuen, Massachusetts, passed away on Saturday, September 30, 2006. A native of Xanthi, Greece, Mr. Vontron lived in Methuen for the past 15 years. He was 80 years old. Services were held on October 6 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Greek Orthodox Church, 142 Beech Street, Methuen, MA 01844.
Pope Benedict XVI meets with President of Cyprus

By Daniela Petroff

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Benedict XVI met Friday with the President of Cyprus, the first visit by a pontiff to the ethnically divided island nation, in an overture to the long-simmering peace effort between the Greek and Turkish federations.

Mr. Liverakos, the former president of the Turkish Cypriot language center, said his government had seized the property under `the law of registration of property` after the Turkish Cypriot leader, Rauf Denktaş, took over the island in 1974.

Mr. Burnham’s tenure at Turtle Bay ended last month, and he said he was leaving the United Nations to take the head of a private foundation that promotes the martial arts.

He also said he did not regret his mother’s decision.

The British Museum possesses a few of the building fragments from the temple just below roof level. It is the 2,500-year-old temple island on which Greek culture and science are rooted. In 1990, the Greek Mediterranean island was ceded to the Greek Republic and the British Museum. An international expert on Mediterranean art, the Greek Republic and the British Museum have made some progress in examining the temple just below roof level. It is the 2,500-year-old temple island on which Greek culture and science are rooted.

Papadopoulos said that the proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable Mr. Papadopoulos said that the proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable the Pope to address the Greek people in a very important way.

By 1998, Greek stewardship of the Parthenon, and the Acropolis in Athens had been underway for 10 years, and the temple just below roof level. It is the 2,500-year-old temple island on which Greek culture and science are rooted.

A committee will be named and a report on the work of the committee will be issued by the end of the year, he added. A committee will be named and a report on the work of the committee will be issued by the end of the year, he added.

He also said he did not regret his mother’s decision.

The Bulgarians have been a big part of the history of the area, and their presence is significant. In the 19th century, they were the dominant group in the region, and their influence is still felt today.

The three-floor facility will include a research library, an archive, a museum, a planetarium, and an exhibition hall. The facility also aims to provide a center for research and teaching, and it is expected to attract visitors from all over the world.

The proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable the Pope to address the Greek people in a very important way.

The amendment fell short of meeting expectations, however, and does not address conflated pressures.

Papadopoulos said that the proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable Mr. Papadopoulos said that the proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable the Pope to address the Greek people in a very important way.

Until the end of the 19th century, the area was inhabited by very few people. During this period, the Bulgarians were the dominant group in the region, and their influence is still felt today.

In 1991, the Greek government took control of the Parthenon, and the Acropolis in Athens had been underway for 10 years, and the temple just below roof level. It is the 2,500-year-old temple island on which Greek culture and science are rooted.

The Bulgarians have been a big part of the history of the area, and their presence is significant. In the 19th century, they were the dominant group in the region, and their influence is still felt today.

The three-floor facility will include a research library, an archive, a museum, a planetarium, and an exhibition hall. The facility also aims to provide a center for research and teaching, and it is expected to attract visitors from all over the world.

The proposed pilgrimage would be a symbolic gesture and would enable the Pope to address the Greek people in a very important way.

The amendment fell short of meeting expectations, however, and does not address conflated pressures.
Beyond cosmetics

It almost looked like the good old days, at least for some of the more wistful among us. People, after all, were aglow with hope, and the Greek-American had reason for optimism. It was a time when the Greek-American community, both here and in the United States, was able to look forward to a brighter future for SAE, because, at long last, it was able to advance the interests of its membership, and that of Hellenism.

The election of Theodore Spyropoulos to the U.S. regional presidency is an example of how the Greek-American community can advance the interests of its membership. Spyropoulos, who has been active in Greek-American affairs for many years, is known for his leadership in the AHEPA, a prominent organization of Greek-Americans in the United States. His election is a testament to the growing influence of the Greek-American community in the United States, and a sign of things to come.

Moreover, the Greek-American community is now in a position to make a real difference in the lives of people in Greece, and beyond. Spyropoulos, who has been involved in various charitable works, is now poised to make a significant impact in the Greek-American community. His leadership will be essential in advancing the interests of the Greek-American community, and in promoting the values of Hellenism.

In conclusion, the election of Theodore Spyropoulos to the U.S. regional presidency is a sign of the growing influence of the Greek-American community in the United States. His leadership will be essential in advancing the interests of the Greek-American community, and in promoting the values of Hellenism. We are looking forward to seeing what he can accomplish in the future.
Political Earthquake: The Impact of the November 2006 Elections

The dramatic elections of November 2006 are a political earthquake. The outcome of the control of the two houses of Congress is the first major defeat of the Republicans in 32 years, and the biggest shift in Congress since 1964. The Democrats, with a strong majority in both houses of Congress, will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy.

The victory is a result of the strong performance of the Democratic party in the election, which was driven by a number of factors. First, the economy has been a major issue in the election, with the unemployment rate rising and the cost of living increasing. The Republicans have been criticized for their handling of the economy, and the Democrats have capitalized on this.

Second, the war in Iraq has been a major issue in the election, with polls showing that a majority of Americans are dissatisfied with the way the war has been handled. The Republicans have been criticized for their handling of the war, and the Democrats have capitalized on this.

Third, the Democratic party has been able to attract a wide range of voters, including young people, women, and minorities. The Republicans have been criticized for their inability to attract these voters, and the Democrats have capitalized on this.

The victory of the Democrats in Congress has implications for policy making in the United States. The Democrats will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy. The Republicans will be in the minority in both houses of Congress, and will have to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.

The victory of the Democrats in Congress is a major win for the Democratic party, and a major loss for the Republicans. The Democrats will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy. The Republicans will be in the minority in both houses of Congress, and will have to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.

The victory of the Democrats in Congress is a major win for the Democratic party, and a major loss for the Republicans. The Democrats will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy. The Republicans will be in the minority in both houses of Congress, and will have to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.

The victory of the Democrats in Congress is a major win for the Democratic party, and a major loss for the Republicans. The Democrats will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy. The Republicans will be in the minority in both houses of Congress, and will have to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.

The victory of the Democrats in Congress is a major win for the Democratic party, and a major loss for the Republicans. The Democrats will now have the power to shape legislation on a range of issues, including national security, foreign policy, and domestic policy. The Republicans will be in the minority in both houses of Congress, and will have to work with the Democrats to pass legislation.
LIVE YOUR MYTH IN GREECE

STARRING YOU

WITH UNIQUE CULTURE, BEAUTIFUL BEACHES, LEGENDARY HOSPITALITY, HEALTHY CUISINE, AMAZING SIGHTS, DIVERSE EXPERIENCES

BOOK NOW
AT A TRAVEL AGENT NEAR YOU!

MINISTRY OF TOURISM • GREEK NATIONAL TOURISM ORGANIZATION
www.visithreece.gr