Dr. Dennis Ansara Speaks With TNH

Greek-American Elector President of the University of Delaware

By Theodore Kalmoukos

NEW YORK – A distinguished academic professor, and first-class citizen, Dr. Dennis Ansara, has been unanimously elected as the first President of the newly established University of Delaware, in one of the most prestigious universities in the United States and one of the most prestigious universities in the world. Over 20,000 students are enrolled, and among its various acronyms, the University of Delaware includes: UD, The Blue Hens, The Hens, The Blue Hens, The Hens, and The Hens. Dr. Ansara is the first Greek-American to be elected as President of this University, which is located in one of the most picturesque and historic areas of the Delaware River Valley.

The University of Delaware, established in 1837, is the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and one of the most prestigious universities in the world. Over 20,000 students are enrolled, and among its various acronyms, the University of Delaware includes: UD, The Blue Hens, The Hens, The Blue Hens, The Hens, and The Hens. Dr. Ansara is the first Greek-American to be elected as President of this University, which is located in one of the most picturesque and historic areas of the Delaware River Valley.

Dr. Ansara joined the University of Delaware in 1984 and has served as the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs since 2010. He was previously the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, San Diego, where he served from 2005 to 2010. Before joining the University of California, San Diego, Dr. Ansara was the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, Los Angeles, from 1999 to 2005. He also served as the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, Berkeley, from 1995 to 1999.

Dr. Ansara has been a leader in higher education and a champion of innovation, excellence, and diversity. He has been recognized for his contributions to education, research, and service, and he has received numerous honors and awards for his accomplishments. He is the first Greek-American to be elected as President of this University, which is located in one of the most picturesque and historic areas of the Delaware River Valley.

Dr. Ansara joined the University of Delaware in 1984 and has served as the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs since 2010. He was previously the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, San Diego, where he served from 2005 to 2010. Before joining the University of California, San Diego, Dr. Ansara was the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, Los Angeles, from 1999 to 2005. He also served as the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, Berkeley, from 1995 to 1999.

Dr. Ansara has been a leader in higher education and a champion of innovation, excellence, and diversity. He has been recognized for his contributions to education, research, and service, and he has received numerous honors and awards for his accomplishments. He is the first Greek-American to be elected as President of this University, which is located in one of the most picturesque and historic areas of the Delaware River Valley.
Athenians’ Society Vaselopita the First Farewell for Iliopoulos

By Constantine S. Sirigos

NEW YORK – The annual Vaselopita of the Athenians’ Society Vaselopita was held on January 23 at the Astoria Performing Arts Center, with the drive to address another priority – to adopt another priority – to address the zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said. He pointed out that “in Albany the biggest thing that was put into practice was our Zero program of zero pedestrian fatalities – “and we won’t rest until we achieve our goal,” he said.
March, although Alahouzos is the city’s historic Spring Bayou first African-American mayor – who is not running for reelection national (SCI) held its annual dinner of Tarpon Springs, David O. Symi) and one in Cyprus (Lar- naca).

Alahouzos introduced the mayor of Greeks living there. Tarpon others, but those are traditional Chicago, Boston, and several American cities such as New York States, as no other community are larger pockets of inhabitants – particularly from Kalymnos. are aesthetically distinct.

On January 14, at the Tarpon Springs Journey with Greek and Jewish-Chicago, Boston, and several American cities such as New York States, as no other community are larger pockets of inhabitants – particularly from Kalymnos. are aesthetically distinct.

Tarpon Springs Florida Honors Its Sister Cities

BY CONSTANTINES E. SCAROS

On January 14, at the Tarpon Springs Journey with Greek and Jewish-Americans and Philhel-

AHEPA's Historic Delphi Chapter Welcomes 47 New Members

BY CONSTANTINE S. SIRIGOS

Dr. Marvin Bright, Provost of St. Petersburg College – Tarpon Springs Campus, was the featured speaker.

Dr. Marvin Bright, Provost of St. Petersburg College – Tarpon Springs Campus, was the featured speaker.

Tap into savings!

NYCB Liquid CD

7-MONTH CD

6.80% APY1

Get this great rate when you enroll in NYCB Liquid CD! It's a new and existing NYCB Elite Gold checking account and maintain $100,000 or more in combined balances.

• Flexible in branch penalty-free withdraw-

• $2,500 minimum to open and earn interest.

abny.com • (800) 535-2269

Atlantic Bank

A Division of New York Commercial Bank • Member FDIC

Live well. Slowly. Happy.

1Annual Percentage Yield (APY) above is accurate at time of publication and is subject to change without notice. The minimum balance to open the 7-month liquid CD is to open the rate is 8.50%. The reported rate reflects the Federal Reserve's current target for the federal funds rate. The 7-month CD will be open one year and will currently be deposited with the bank and enrollment in NYCB Elite is a required. NYCB Elite Gold checking account minimum is open $5,000, NYCB Elite Gold checking account minimum is open $5,000, NYCB Elite Gold checking account minimum is open $5,000, NYCB Elite Gold checking account minimum is open $5,000, NYCB Elite Gold checking account minimum is open $5,000.

2A penalty may be imposed for withdrawals before maturity. The penalty will be waived if the withdrawal is made after the first six days of the account term or by allen

NEW YORK – Forty seven Greeks-Americans and Philhel-

March, although Alahouzos is a the city’s historic Spring Bayou first African-American mayor – who is not running for reelection national (SCI) held its annual dinner of Tarpon Springs, David O. Symi) and one in Cyprus (Lar- naca).

Alahouzos introduced the mayor of Greeks living there. Tarpon others, but those are traditional Chicago, Boston, and several American cities such as New York States, as no other community are larger pockets of inhabitants – particularly from Kalymnos. are aesthetically distinct.
Stavros Niarchos Cultural Center Nears Completion

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center (SNFCC) at the Faliro Delta of Athens, which at 596 million euro constitutes SNF’s largest single donation to date, is gradually acquiring its final form. Its last major construction milestone, and its most innovative – its energy generating roof – was recently completed.

The SNFCC is a multifunctional and environmentally sustainable center of learning, art and recreation, comprising Stavros Niarchos Park, a 170,000 square meter green space, and the new, ultra-modern facilities of the National Library of Greece and the Greek National Opera.

When construction is completed as expected in the first half of 2016, the project will be delivered as a gift to the Greek government, society and the citizens.

“The Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center… is the strongest confirmation of the Foundation’s commitment to the future of our country and society,” said SNF co-President Andreas Drakopoulos. “The SNFCC, after three years of incessant work, is ripening at the construction level, and is steadily preparing for the next steps and its presentation to Greek society, which we hope will embrace it and enjoy it.”
The myth and the truth about atmospheric pollution

Dear Mr. Diamataris,

Mankind setup machines that measure the exact pollution of the atmosphere in different cities. So, for example our city New York has approximately the enviable number 1. Chicago is 4-5; Montreal 0.75, Los Angeles: 3. Detroit factories due to some they say was destroying the soil of Canada and the vegetation at a depth of several kilometers. Who did all these things? The Media, of course, ‘informing’ the public. Why? I don’t know.

But I do know that then, the second Bush President of the United States who listens to the name of George W. Bush said: “The wind blows from North to the South. It never blows from the South to the North. Since then, the media stopped talking about the Detroit factories like magic. I am asking a question: For how long the citizen of America will fall victim to the truth. All this demonstration and expression of the elements of nature, as well as the overheating of our planet are all phenomena caused by environmental pollution. There is nothing more untrue than this.

The temperatures prevailing in the arctic cycle from the latitude of seventy degrees to the North Pole range and fluctuate seasonally from 15 to 159 degrees Celsius below zero. Never and nothing is in a position to cause melting of the ice there. Exactly the same geophysical phenomenon is occurring in Antarctica from the latitude of seventy degrees to the South Pole. The articles written about the melting of the ice in the poles of the Earth are devoid of any seriousness, they are just ludicrous to say the least. The environmental pollution on these is of negligible influence.

In order to have a scientific approach for these phenomena we must take into account that the core of the Earth, which is estimated to be 25 trillion cubic tons of lava the temperature of which totals five thousand degrees, and causes the ignition of volcanos, earthquakes, dislocation of earth pieces and melting of the ice.

This disturbance in the guts of our planet in addition to other things launches into the atmosphere ions that are suspended between the stratosphere and ionosphere also contributing to the solidifying and melting of the ice. Another determining factor of the temperature fluctuation in the poles of the earth is its revolving around its axis, its changing distance from the Sun. It is a simple and easy to verify all these phenomena, when one visits the Palomar Observatory in San Francisco. Its gigantic telescope shows clearly and in regular intervals the melting and solidifying of the water where the environmental pollution is non-existent, in the planets Moon and Mars. With this opportunity, let me remind you that the first people to study Astrophysics and teach about the indestructibility of matter were Greek philosophers, with Heraclitus first, who wrote the book “On Nature” the importance of which was so shocking that is was stolen by the Romans when they conquered Athens. Finally, the theory that the pollution of the environment contributes to or in- densifies the melting and solidifying of the ice is not founded because the temperature according to the laws of nature is the only force that melts and solidifies.

Silence is not always Virtue. I believe Mr. Diamataris will do a service to the Community as he does always by communicating to the Greek-Americans any truths I am writing about, which the reader will proudly embrace on listening to Heraclitus the Greek who wrote the book “On Nature.”

Aristotle said: “A good start is half of everything.” Pythagoras said: “Virtue is the harmony of the soul with itself and with our divine creator.” Hippocrates said: “no benefit, nor money nor anything else is worth as much as Health.” Socrates said: “The truth is not enough to be said alone but much more it must be experienced.”

Many happy returns to Mr. Diamataris and all of his worthy associates.

Thanks for publishing my letter.

Sincerely

Anastassios Kassapidis, MD
Surgeon SA 210469
23-18 28th Street
Astoria, New York 11105
Tel.: (718) 545 -8889
Bystrova: Stolitsa Demonstrates How to Succeed with Talent and True Grit

By Zdenko Karagorge

Stolitsa was excited and Bernot the Olive Tree had won her spot on the stage of the Academy. Stavroula Toska, a rising star in the Greek film industry, was delighted when she received the news. She has always been one of the brightest stars in the eyes of her peers and colleagues. In fact, her performance, energy and confidence during the auditions led to her being chosen for this prestigious role.

The origin of the film had its roots in the experience of Stavroula Toska. During her time in Greece, she had been invited to attend a film festival in Athens. There, she met the director and producer who had chosen her to play the lead role in the film. The director, a respected figure in the industry, was enthusiastic about her potential and believed she could bring a fresh perspective to the story.

Stavroula Toska was excited to work with such a talented director and producer. She had always been fascinated by the world of film and was eager to showcase her talent on the big screen. The opportunity to work on a project with such a high profile was a dream come true for her.

The film was based on a novel by a renowned Greek author, and the story was set in the early 20th century. Stavroula Toska was thrilled to play a character who was strong, independent and determined. The role required her to dig deep into her own reserves of strength and resilience.

As she worked on the film, Stavroula Toska began to see the parallels between her own life and the character she was playing. She felt a strong connection to the themes of perseverance and determination, and she was determined to bring this to life on screen.

The shoot was a grueling experience, with long hours and challenging conditions. However, Stavroula Toska remained focused on the end result. She knew that the film had the potential to be a powerful statement about the importance of following your dreams and never giving up.

When the film was released, it received critical acclaim and audiences were drawn to her portrayal of the strong-willed character. Stavroula Toska was thrilled with the response and felt a sense of pride in having brought her character to life.

Looking back on her time on set, Stavroula Toska realized that the film had not only been a professional achievement but also a personal one. It had helped her to find her voice and to become the actress she always knew she could be.

The film was a turning point in her career, and she was grateful for the experience. She knew that it was just the beginning of a long and successful career in the entertainment industry.

May he rest in peace.

Stavroula Toska looks forward to future projects, eager to continue her journey as an actress. She is determined to bring more complex and nuanced characters to life on screen. She is passionate about using her craft to tell stories that resonate with audiences and leave a lasting impact.
Newlyweds John Heropoulos and Richard Crook pose for a studio portrait. The Leading Company in Flat Breads
Kontos Foods, Inc
Well known for the Pocket Less Pita
Kontos Foods, Inc
The Leading Company in Flat Breads
Well known for the Pocket Less Pita
Manufacturers of Authentic Ethnic Foods
Kontos, the first family in flat dough and flat product.
Kontos Foods, Inc
Well known for the Pocket Less Pita
Kontos Foods, Inc
The Leading Company in Flat Breads
Well known for the Pocket Less Pita
Manufacturers of Authentic Ethnic Foods
Kontos, the first family in flat dough and flat product.
Harvard and the teaching methods that you use?

The Advanced Training in Greek Poetry Translation and Workshops at Harvard.

You are the creator of Ludics in Surrealist Theatre and Beyond, you have received numerous prize poems that for the first time show your book Ludics in Surrealist Theatre and Beyond.

AA: Little did I know at the time that I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

NP: Yes. I have been interested in heart diseases and in understanding its treatment since early age?

NP: My favorite philosophers have been Plato, Spinoza, Kant, and Hegel. I have been fascinated by Immanuel Kant, both in terms of his ideas about the critique of rationality and his political use of religion by the Austrian Empire.

AA: In which field are you currently working?

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now.

NP: I cannot write without also expressing myself in my creative work. My poetry writing/ music writing, both ancient and modern, intensive work, it helps rethink your research on cardiomyopathy (ACHM).

AA: Yes. I have been interested in heart diseases and in understanding its treatment since early age. To pathologists, this means studying heart tissue in patients and armed with this knowledge, they can make a breakthrough discovery and open new horizons.

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

AA: In which field are you currently working?

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

AA: In which field are you currently working?

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

AA: In which field are you currently working?

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

AA: In which field are you currently working?

NP: I was born in Athens. I moved to England in 1981 and have lived in the UK until now. Digital humanities is my "niche," and I hope to continue to develop it.

AA: In which field are you currently working?
...manship such as enamels and makes sense of the world. About your experience and your critically, question what is taken for granted, and engage in dia-

We have been living in si-

and makes sense of the world.

about your experience and your critically, question what is taken for granted, and engage in dia-

and makes sense of the world.

and makes sense of the world.

and makes sense of the world.
Orthodox in Haiti: Financially Poor But Rich in Spirit

By Phoebe (Kiki) Samuels
Special to The National Herald

THICK with mud, the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince is home to more than 1.5 million people, half of whom are under the age of 18. The United Nations (UN) identified Port-au-Prince as the world’s most crowded city, with a population density of 35,000 people per square kilometer. The city is divided into 14 wards, each with a population of more than 10,000 people. The lowest income households are clustered in the central areas, while the highest income households are located in the northern and eastern parts of the city.

The city is characterized by a mix of European and African traditions, with a strong emphasis on Christianity. The majority of the population is Roman Catholic, but there are also significant numbers of Protestants, Muslims, and Jews. The city is home to a number of churches and religious institutions, including the Archdiocese of Haiti, which is part of the worldwide Catholic Church.

The city is also home to a number of schools and universities, including the University of Haiti, the largest university in the country. The city is also home to a number of hospitals and clinics, including the University Hospital of Haiti, which is the largest hospital in the country.

The city is also home to a number of cultural institutions, including the National Museum of Haiti, which houses a large collection of artifacts and artwork from the country’s history.

The city is also home to a number of natural attractions, including the Pétionville Park, which is a popular destination for visitors and locals alike.

The city is also home to a number of tourist attractions, including the Cathedral of the Assumption, which is the largest cathedral in the country.

The city is also home to a number of restaurants and bars, including the famous Café de l’Humanité, which is a popular destination for locals and tourists alike.

The city is also home to a number of shopping centers, including the Port-au-Prince Mall, which is the largest shopping mall in the country.

The city is also home to a number of transportation hubs, including the Port-au-Prince International Airport, which is the largest airport in the country.

The city is also home to a number of transportation hubs, including the Port-au-Prince International Airport, which is the largest airport in the country.

The city is also home to a number of transportation hubs, including the Port-au-Prince International Airport, which is the largest airport in the country.

The city is also home to a number of transportation hubs, including the Port-au-Prince International Airport, which is the largest airport in the country.
Diversity blooms in tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.

The Parade was organized by in Tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.

The Parade was organized by in Tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.

The Parade was organized by in Tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.

The Parade was organized by in Tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.

The Parade was organized by in Tarpon Springs. Mayor David Arakkee (first row, second from right), the first African-American to hold that office, marches alongside Kajenesis riot policeman (first row, far right). Mayor Arakkee, who is a Tarpon Springs native and a former Tarpon Springs Community and Youth Officer, is elected in March, Alachua County which will immediately following the Parade, a celebration coined, with fiction, humor, and history, the heart of the city’s African-American community.
ATHENS — The recent 10-day trip to Greece, Cyprus, and Israel by American Jewish organizations was a somewhat mixed blessing for the Greek and Jewish-American communities.

Under the banner of Solidarity Mediterranean countries and their backers, 11 American Jewish organizations and their supporters visited the three countries to support their demands or mediate between their leaders. The visit was led by Supreme President of the American Hellenic Institute Theodore "Ted" Tzitzios and the National President of the American Jewish Congress," said the National Federation of Greek Journalists. "The country is facing a severe economic crisis, and there are widespread public protests..."

Seamen, Farmers, Protest Strached
Pension Reforms

TEMPE, AZ — Greek -American farmers and seamen on Wednesday launched a protest against the social security and pension reforms drafted by the Maj. Prokopis Pavlopoulos government. As part of the protest, seamen and farmers blockaded the ports of Piraeus and Patras. According to the protest organizers, 30,000 farmers and 12,000 seamen are affected by the new pension reforms.

"The government's pension reforms
are a disaster," said Konstantinos
Hadjimarkos, Director of the Greek Seamen Union. "Workers in the Greek and American seafish industry are suffering from the pension reforms. We are demanding that the government withdraw these damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry."

The American Hellenic Institute
and the American Jewish Congress
were also represented by a delegation
in the protest. According to the American Hellenic Institute, the Greek government's pension reforms
are "a disaster for Greek seafish industry workers." The delegation said that the reforms would have a devastating impact on the Greek seafish industry. "We demand that the government withdraw these
damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry," said the American Hellenic Institute.

"The government's pension reforms
are a disaster," said Konstantinos
Hadjimarkos, Director of the Greek Seamen Union. "Workers in
the Greek and American seafish
industry are suffering from the pension reforms. We are demanding
that the government withdraw these
damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry."

The American Hellenic Institute
and the American Jewish Congress
were also represented by a delegation
in the protest. According to the American Hellenic Institute, the Greek government's pension reforms
are "a disaster for Greek seafish
industry workers." The delegation
said that the reforms would have a devastating impact on the Greek seafish industry. "We demand that the government withdraw these
damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry," said the American Hellenic Institute.

"The government's pension reforms
are a disaster," said Konstantinos
Hadjimarkos, Director of the Greek Seamen Union. "Workers in
the Greek and American seafish
industry are suffering from the pension reforms. We are demanding
that the government withdraw these
damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry."

The American Hellenic Institute
and the American Jewish Congress
were also represented by a delegation
in the protest. According to the American Hellenic Institute, the Greek government's pension reforms
are "a disaster for Greek seafish
industry workers." The delegation
said that the reforms would have a devastating impact on the Greek seafish industry. "We demand that the government withdraw these
damaging reforms and implement
fair reforms for workers in the Greek seafish industry," said the American Hellenic Institute.
Two Leaders, Two Worlds

It was major news that Kyriakos Mitsotakis crossed the threshold – for the first time in his career – as the leader of the opposition. But the other news that has dominated the headlines has been something routine. The innumerable meetings or communications for elections or issues that are of national concern. From this perspective, the leaders are not so different.

The Greek President and the Opposition Leader have both had the opportunity to express their differences in the past few days. Their statements in the media about the pension reform issue are certainly the most recent.

President Prokopis Pavlopoulos, in an interview with the Greek newspaper Hellenic Times, revealed the difference that separates the two leaders.

President Pavlopoulos said that Mitsotakis represents today’s generation, educated, with international aspirations and an understanding of the world. He also said that Mitsotakis has a greater ability to deal with the current crisis, which we were quick to call him on.

On the other hand, the President also said that Mitsotakis is a man who is not wearing a tie.

The two leaders disagree regarding the evaluation of the pension plan. Mitsotakis is calling for a strong and immediate response to the economic crisis, while the President is more cautious and prefers a gradual approach.

Nevertheless, there was a point of agreement that the President mentioned: the need for a collective enlightenment. He said that such enlightenment will result from such discussions and that the leaders should focus on the common goals.

The statement also highlights the importance of the Greek-American community in the discussions and decisions that affect the country. The Greek-American community is an important part of the country’s history and culture, and their presence is felt not only in Greece but also in other parts of the world.

Nevertheless, the dialogue that transpired before the press conference was not entirely smooth. There were issues in their discussion on which they did not agree.

Nevertheless, the dialogue that transpired before the press conference was not entirely smooth. There were issues in their discussion on which they did not agree.

Let us look at some of the main points of evidence against him.

For example, it is painfully obvious that the leaders and the Greek-American community are focusing on the economic crisis and its impact on the country. They are discussing measures that can be taken to address the crisis, and the impact that the crisis has on the Greek-American community.

It is also certain that the Greek-American community is focused on the process of integration and its impact on the country. They are discussing measures that can be taken to address the integration process and its impact on the Greek-American community.

In addition to the economic crisis and integration process, the leaders and the Greek-American community are discussing other issues that affect the country. They are discussing measures that can be taken to address these issues and the impact that they have on the Greek-American community.

Therefore, there was no point of view that was not shared by both leaders in their comments.

In conclusion, the leaders and the Greek-American community are focusing on the most important issues that affect the country. They are discussing measures that can be taken to address these issues and the impact that they have on the Greek-American community.

The community is not known to have any historical or political connections to the USA. The community is not known to have any historical or political connections to the USA.
Who Can Those Who Otherwise Might Persist Repeat It

The Long Road Home from Athens to Ericksville

The National Herald

Announcing a New Memo... Song of My Life and all the novels, stories and earlier memoirs of celebrated Greek-American author

Full Info on all 24 of his books at www.harleyparkeidis.com Discover Greece with Europe's best.

Culinary delights, comfortable seats, great entertainment, and much more. Two pieces of free standard luggage are allowed on all flights.

WIDEN YOUR WORLD with Turkish Airlines.

Visit a Turkish Airlines office near you or call 866-TA1-TRIP.